Over 30,000 People at Today's Great Game

Weather Conditions are Perfect Again—No Sunday Games Will be Played—Both Teams Will Spend Sunday in Detroit

PITTSBURG, Oct. 9.—Another large crowd turned out for the second game of the world championship series at Forbes field today. Cheered on by the decisive victory of Pittsburgh yesterday, the local enthusiasts were out in force and had hopes that the National league champions would win the series in four straight games, but the Detroit followers appeared to have a different view of the subject.

The crowd started pouring into the immense amphitheatre long before the game was scheduled to start and it soon appeared as though the great crowd of yesterday would be equalled or even surpassed. Predictions were freely made that the crowd would number more than 30,000 paid admissions.

No Sunday Games

Both teams are scheduled to leave for Detroit tonight to spend Sunday there. There will be no Sunday game in Detroit despite the fact that the American league champions have been playing regularly on Sunday. These games were being played without the cognizance of the city officials because there is a law forbidding Sunday baseball in Detroit. It was feared, however, that the large crowds attendant upon the world's championship game would cause complaints and might result in stopping all Sunday games. Therefore, the Detroit management decided not to take any chances. This train also will carry the national commission, the umpires, official scorers and newspaper correspondents.

Manager Clarke was a confident smile as he led his men on the field. Each man was roundly applauded, but the lion's share of the cheering was centred on Leach, Wagner and Gibson, the heroes of the first battle. It was expected that Clarke would send in as pitcher Howard Cunniff, who has just recovered from an attack of throat trouble. Maddox and Willis also worked out before the game and there was a chance that either of them might be sent in if Cunniff failed to warm up well enough to please Clarke. Manager Jennings of Detroit refused to take a pessimistic view of the situation and he and his men came on the field today determined to win.

Looks Like Donovan

Delahanty and Bush were dejected over their errors of yesterday and were determined that no more from them should mar the playing of their team. Jennings had Donovan, Summers and Willet warming up but said he would probably use the veteran Donovan.

The showing of Mullin in yesterday's battle pleased Jennings and the big fellow is likely to be given another chance in Monday's game at Detroit.

The Lineup

Gibson was the catcher for Pittsburgh and it was expected Schmidt would be behind the bat for Detroit.

Following is the lineup today:

Pittsburgh—Byrne 3b, Leach cf, Clarke lf, Wagner ss, Miller 2b, Abstein 1b, Wilson rf, Gibson, c; Donovan, p.

Detroit—D. Jones lf, Bush ss, Cobb rf, Crawford, cg, Delahanty, 2b, Moriarty, 3b, T. Jones, 1b; Schmidt, c; Donovan, p.

Umpires—Evans behind the bat and Klein on the bases.

THE IRISH LEAGUE CIVIL SESSION

Preparing for Reception Sitting in Lowell May of the Irish Envoys be Abandoned

The executive committee of the United Irish league held an important meeting last evening with a large attendance. Some odds and ends of past business were cleared up and the arrangements for the reception of Messrs. T. P. O'Connor, M. P., Edward O'Meara and John O'Callaghan were discussed at length. No date as yet has been received for Lowell, but it is expected that this will be settled in a few days.

The envoys sail for this country on the 14th instant and on the 25th will start a great meeting will be held in Faneuil hall, at which all three will speak.

Hon. John E. Redmond has sent out word to the national president that a dissolution of parliament is inevitable in the near future and that the general election will give the Irish party a great opportunity to press their claims for home rule. The peers will reject several government measures and then the ministers will appeal to the country.

FURNITURE TEAM

Was Struck by an Electric Car

An inward bound North Chelmsford electric car due in Merrimack square at 8:33 o'clock last night crashed into a furniture wagon at the corner of Middlesex and Baldwin streets, and besides badly wrecking the wagon threw Joseph Thibault out. He sustained an injury to his hip.

Who was to blame for the accident was not known, but several speculators claim that the wagon crossed the track in front of the car and before the motorman could bring the car to a stop it collided with the wagon.

Thibault is employed by Theophile Beauchemin.

TEXTILE SCHOOL

What is Being Done in Sports and Fraternities

All the home football games of the Textile school will be played this year at Washington park and Coach Church is working hard to turn out a fast aggregation. The material this year is extremely promising and the line consists of heavy men who have had considerable experience while the back field is made up of men who are speedy and run well with the ball. The first two games were the hardest of the season and although they resulted in defeats for the local boys they have not been discouraged as the games were against the two strongest preparatory schools in New England, namely, Andover and Exeter. This afternoon the fast St. John's preparatory school of Danvers will be Textile's opponent, and a fast game is looked for as the St. John's team comes to Lowell with a big reputation.

The Phi Psi fraternity held their annual smoker Friday evening at their house on Mt. Washington street and quite a few of their friends were present. The first part of the evening was spent in games, etc. As this is an annual event quite a number of the old men were back renewing old acquaintances. About ten o'clock refreshments were served and a social hour was enjoyed after which songs were sung, the party breaking up at a seasonable hour.

Last Wednesday afternoon the men interested in track sports did a little work out of doors under the direction of Coach Church. The dashes distance runs, shot puts and jumps were tried and some good performances were given considering that this was the first day out. Pencil, a freshman from Fitchburg, showed good form in the dashes, while Wise did well in the pole vault. Among those out were Manning, Keough, Morton, Hale, 1910, Harrison, Jefferson, Murphy, 1911, Pensel, Wise, Walsh, 1912.

The tennis tournament is well under way and already several matches have been played off. The entries are as follows: Duval 10 vs. Hendrickson 12, Summersby 11 vs. Watson 10; Muckelson 10 vs. Ferrin 11; Perkins vs. Ferguson; Lamb vs. Murphy 11; T. T. Clarke 10 vs. Ealy 11; Elliott 11 vs. Casey 12; North 12 vs. Middleton 11; Welch 10 vs. B. B. Clarke 12.

The Delta Kappa Phi Fraternity will hold their annual smoker on next Monday evening at their house on Merrimack street.

The cotton department has been re-enforced by the addition of Mr. Henry K. Dick, of Lunenburg, Scotland. When Mr. Dick was in Scotland he was employed in the firm of A. McDougal & Co., Ltd., who are large manufacturers of cotton goods. Last June he moved to this country where he was employed in the Lorraine mills of Pawtucket, R. I., where he worked before coming to Lowell.

The Omicron Xi Fraternity held open house recently at their place on Pawtucket street and was well attended by both old men and those in the incoming class. The first part of the evening was spent in games, songs, etc. and later on refreshments were served and a social hour was enjoyed. Among the old men present were Charles Church, Arthur Varum, Roswell Hall, Harry Arundell, Howard Morton, Frank Dwight, Arnold Midwood and Walker Prescott.

The five lap circular track around the athletic field is nearing completion and will probably be in readiness for the fall track meet which will be held in the near future. The foundation is composed of a coarse grade of cinders while for a top dressing there is a finer grade used.

Anstin P. Whitney 10, William Wightman 06, and William Parkis 09, have been renewing old acquaintances in Lowell.

The senior class held its first meeting of the year yesterday and elected the following officers: President, Rose Whitcomb; vice president, Joseph Duval; secretary, Frank McNeil; athletic council, Frederick Manning. The matter of a pickout heard was laid over until the next meeting. The elections were close throughout and in the case of the athletic council the vote resulted in a tie and on the next ballot Manning won out over Gale who held that office last year.

The sophomore elections resulted in the election of President Gordon Elliott; vice president, Harry Martin; secretary, George W. Summersby; athletic council, Roswell C. Jefferson. The class banquet was discussed and plans were made to hold one in the near future and the subject of a class pin was also brought up for discussion, but no definite action was taken on it.

Mr. Harold Nickerson, S. B., a graduate of Harvard university and a special student at Howard Walker's design school, has taken charge of the decorative art department owing to the resignation of Mr. Eugene W. Clarke, Jr., who has resigned to accept a higher position in Boston.

The work in English and the commercial languages has grown to such an extent that arrangements have been made to have a resident instructor in these subjects and the school has been very fortunate in securing the services of Mr. John Clement, A. B., Harvard university.

ROBBED OF $400

Man Attacked at the Brockton Fair

BROCKTON, Oct. 9.—Clarence Van Dyke, 21, of Hartford, Conn., who was visiting a friend at the Brockton fair yesterday, was held up by two men at Johnson's barn, outside the fair grounds, snatched, badly beaten and robbed of $400.

Shortly after 5 o'clock last night Van Dyke had supper on the fair grounds, and upon paying for his meal he took the $400.

Directly opposite him sat two men, about 30 years of age. It is believed that they saw Van Dyke's roll.

After finishing his meal Van Dyke walked toward Johnson's stable, and as he reached the door one of the two men jumped on him and grabbed his throat, shutting off his wind.

The other man, according to the police, kicked and beat the Hartford man and then took the $400.

The two men escaped, but the Brockton police are of the opinion that the robbers hail from Boston and are two well-known crooks.

THE FINAL ROUND

Of the Woman's Golf Championship

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 9.—Miss Dorothy Campbell of North Berwick, Scotland, met Mrs. Ronald Barlow of Philadelphia today in the final round of the women's national golf championship over the course of the Merion Cricket club at Haverford. Miss Campbell is the champion of Great Britain, while Mrs. Barlow has held the championship of the Philadelphia district. Three years ago at Boston she reached the semi-final round in the national event. She and Miss Campbell will today she will be the first foreigner to annex the United States title.

Conditions for the all important match are perfect.

On the form shown by the two players during the week Miss Campbell is believed to have the better chance of winning the match and title. She has won all her matches in more or less easy fashion and when in tight places proved to be cool and did not lose her good judgment. Mrs. Barlow is an experienced player with plenty of grit, and her friends have strong hopes that she will outclass herself well and keep the championship on this side of the Atlantic.

HAVERHILL MAN

Is Held on Charge of Assault

HAVERHILL, Oct. 9.—Daniel Spinelli was arrested by Patrolman Hussey yesterday and locked up to wait a hearing in the district court on a charge of assaulting Frank Monticello with a knife. The alleged assault occurred on Essex street last Tuesday night, when Monticello was stabbed in the abdomen, but the wound did not prove serious.

After being taken to police headquarters Spinelli admitted it is alleged, that he had committed the assault, but offered no further explanation.

Spinelli is also under suspicion of being concerned in a break at Daniels' pool room on Essex street Thursday. When the place was opened yesterday morning it was discovered that $1,000 had been taken in the shop, including a cash register of $5, as well as stealing a quantity of cigarettes and cigars.

Spinelli denied all knowledge of the break. He is 21 years old. He formerly lived on Essex street.

FUNERALS

WALTON.—The funeral of the late Seth J. Walton took place this morning at 9 o'clock from the chapel of Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons, and was largely attended. The cortege proceeded to St. Michael's church, where at 2 o'clock a mass of requiem was sung by Rev. Dennis P. Murphy. The choir under the direction of Mr. Thomas P. Boulger sang the Gregorian mass. Miss Carolyn White presiding at the organ. The bearers were John Welch, Richard Cuff, Charles Brennan and Edward Brennan. At the grave Rev. Murphy read the committal prayer, and the burial was in the Catholic cemetery in charge of Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons.

SCAGHE.—The funeral of Mrs. Jeanne M. Scaghe took place yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Central Catholic church. The services were conducted by Rev. James T. Curigan, pastor of that church. Appropriate selections were sung by Mrs. William H. Popen. The bearers were Charles Joseph and Thomas Chrysler and Andrew Jones. Burial will take place today at St. Ambrose, 15th and W. streets, in charge of Undertakers George W. Hussey in charge.

THE 6-ROOM TENEMENT at 101 1/2 North Main street, owned by Mrs. Mary E. O'Donnell, is for sale. Inquire of John McMenamin, 212 Merrimack street.

FOUND NOT GUILTY

Man Was Accused of Breaking Pane of Glass

John Mason was arraigned before Judge Hadley in police court this morning on a complaint charging him with breaking a pane of glass in the house of his stepfather, John Deane, in North Chelmsford, on the 30th of September. Mason entered a plea of not guilty and conducted his own case, while the government was represented by J. Joseph O'Connor.

During the course of the testimony it was brought out that the defendant's mother had married the complainant and left him about six weeks ago for some reason or other and that the feeling between the two men had not been very good since then.

Mr. Deane testified that on the night of Sept. 30th, at about 8:45 o'clock, while he was preparing to go to bed he was startled by the sound of breaking glass, which was immediately followed by three stones which passed in close proximity to his head. He did not know at the time who had thrown the stones, but afterwards learned that it was Joe Mason.

The son of the preceding witness testified that he saw the breaking of glass and saw Mason running down the road. He knew that it was Mason for the moon was out and the night was very clear.

Mason, testifying in his own behalf, said that he was in the habit of returning early at night and on the night of the alleged offense he had gone to bed about eight o'clock. Witnesses admitted, however, that he had had trouble with the complainant.

Two occupants of the house where Mason resided corroborated the testimony offered by Deane.

The court after considering the evidence in the case found the defendant not guilty and ordered him discharged.

Fined for Overspeeding

Anastas Prodrornos denied that he had violated a city ordinance by driving a horse through the public streets at a rate of between ten and twelve miles an hour. He was found guilty, however, and a fine of $6 was imposed. He appealed and was held for the superior court.

Patrolman Reggin testified that the night before last about 6:15 o'clock he saw Prodrornos driving through Suffolk street near the corner of Broadway, and that the horse was going about 12 miles an hour. A little girl who went to cross the street in front of the horse was knocked down but escaped serious injury. The patrolman shouted to Prodrornos, and when the latter stopped he was placed under arrest. Two other witnesses corroborated the testimony offered by the officer.

Prodrornos testified that he was driving the horse about five miles an hour. He was found guilty and a fine of $6 imposed.

The court felt that in imposing a light fine the defendant would pay it instead of appealing. When Prodrornos appealed Judge Hadley said: "I will see that the city solicitor prosecutes this case when it comes before the superior court."

PLANTS CLOSED

Strange Accident in New Haven

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 9.—A singular accident occurred here early today which for several hours deprived the city of electric illumination, private residences of current, and stopped manufacturing plants. The compensating wired generating plant of the United Illuminating Co., which supplies light and power to practically the entire city opened, causing generators to reverse. There was no actual damage in the company's plant. The company's officials say that the accident was unusual and might never occur again. The morning newspapers were not able to print until about 7 o'clock and many hundreds of employees had a short spell of idleness until the power was turned on.

HAVERHILL MAN

BURNETT HELD

"Divine Healer" is Under Arrest

BOSTON, Oct. 9.—William Burnett, the "divine healer" who was arrested in Jersey City, N. J., last Saturday for the Boston authorities, was arraigned before Judge Walt in the superior criminal court yesterday morning. He is charged with larceny by means of false pretenses and also with unlawfully practicing as a physician.

After pleading not guilty, he was held for trial. Bail was fixed at $500 on the larceny charge and $500 on the other charge.

Burnett, or the "Rev. Mr. Bennett" as he is also called, was born in London 16 years ago. He was brought up in Kingston, Jam. According to the police, he claims to have been born with a black veil over his head, under which was a white one, and that from this he derives marvelous powers. Among the many maladies which he claims to cure are consumption, deafness and blindness, or "darkness of the eye," as he calls the latter ailment.

Previous to his removal to Jersey City he lived at 46 Porter street. The police say that among his stock in trade were "holy oils," powders and various medicines, together with charms which he offered for sale at from 11 to 15c.

The "healer" a charm which he wore around his neck, was the most potent of these. This consisted of cloth and hair, and he said that by means of this charm great riches would come to the wearer, while it would death to any one who should try to remove it from the neck of the wearer.

DRAMATIC TRAGEDY

Took Place in the Villa of American Painter

MANTES SUR SEINE, France, Oct. 8.—The villa of Daniel Ridgway Knight, the American painter, at Rolleboise, overlooking the Seine, was the scene of a dramatic tragedy on Wednesday. Armande Pison, a 17-year-old girl, renowned throughout the countryside for her beauty, who served the Mr. Knight in the double capacity of domestic and model, after being publicly flogged at a village ball by her lover, Gustave Fortune, returned to Mr. Knight's home, took the painter's shotgun and placing the barrels under her chin, blew off her head. Mr. Knight found the body of the girl on the following morning upon his return from Paris. Before killing herself, Armande wrote a pathetic letter to her father, a chimney sweeper in Paris, and to her sisters, adjuring the latter to avoid love affairs and never to believe man's words. She also left a letter to Mr. Knight, asking forgiveness for the trouble and annoyance she was causing him in committing suicide in his home. The coroner returned a verdict of suicide during a temporary fit of madness. When Fortune heard of the tragic death of his sweetheart, he tried to kill himself. The funeral of the girl yesterday was the occasion of a remarkable demonstration of affection for him. The entire populace of the village attended the services and followed the coffin to the grave. Mr. Knight paid all the funeral expenses. He said last night that the girl had a face of the most remarkable beauty he had ever seen. She was posing for pictures Mr. Knight is painting which he said are valued by him at $50,000.

HAVERHILL MAN

Raised a Potato Weighing 54 Ounces

HAVERHILL, Oct. 8.—An Irish cobbler potato, which is believed to surpass anything ever raised on a New England farm, and tends to dispel the disparaging remarks about deserted farms, has been raised by Patrick Smith on Rev. Fr. James O'Donnell's farm on North Broadway. The potato has been placed on exhibition and evokes the greatest praise.

Another potato raised in this city weighs 25 ounces. Still another is on exhibition weighing 38 ounces. An Irish cobbler raised by H. W. Wadley of 38 Kenosia street lacks two ounces of two pounds.

These are all excellent by Patrick Smith's product, however, which tips the scales at 54 ounces. The champion potato will be sent to the department of agriculture at Washington.

1200 to Look for Man Who is Missing

HAVERHILL, Oct. 9.—A force of 1200 Greeks will search the woods and fields of Silver Hill and vicinity tomorrow. The search of the smaller force Thursday and yesterday proved unavailing, as the whereabouts of Chasiodos, missing since last Sunday and believed to have been murdered, has not been found.

Christmas Chasiodos is held in the Lawrence Hill in default of $300 bail, for the superior court next January on two charges of larceny.

A new theory has been formulated by the police and the body of Chasiodos has been concealed in a trunk or a box. A search was instituted yesterday in the Greek tenement houses, but nothing was revealed though every trunk, box and closet was thoroughly searched.

There are nearly 1200 Greeks living in this city. They have been in the habit of going to the Silver Hill district on Sundays. At every one of them

In a Runaway Accident Reception to Rev. Chas. H. Williams of Billerica

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 9.—Miss Louise L. D. Bowen and Mrs. Myra D. S. Coffin, sisters, both of Harrington, Me., were struck on Congress street, near Oak street, yesterday afternoon, by a runaway team.

Miss Bowen sustained fatal injuries and her left leg was broken, while the extent of the injuries received by Mrs. Coffin has not been ascertained.

Both were aged 70. They came here a week ago to visit their relative, Mrs. Susanman, 29 Quincy street, and from here proposed to go to Boston to visit relatives. Yesterday morning, just before they left the house, Miss Bowen said:

"This will probably be our last visit here and we want to see all our friends."

They did not notice the approaching vehicle until it was too late. The horses attached to a furniture dray crossed the road at State street, and made a dash through a great crowd.

The accident was very badly cut about the head and face. The sisters were taken to the hospital, where they were attended by their friends in Boston, and but for the accident would probably have left for their city today.

Miss Bowen, who did not recover consciousness, died at 1:45. She had considerable means and was well known in social and benevolent circles in her section of the state. Mrs. Coffin will probably recover.

REV. DR. MANN ILL

BOSTON, Oct. 9.—Rev. Dr. Alexander Mann, rector of the Trinity church and president of the Episcopal church council of the United States, is seriously ill at a private hospital in the Back Bay. Rev. Dr. Mann returned yesterday from Paris, Me., where he had been spending the summer. He had been ill for several days and last night was operated upon for appendicitis. He was resting comfortably last night, but is not out of danger.

Rev. Dr. Mann is 45 years old.

Hackett Won Race in 2 Hours, 37 Minutes, 26 1-5 Seconds

BROCKTON, Oct. 9.—Always running minutes of each other. There was only one in a commanding position and for six minutes between the first and tenth more than half the distance in the runners at Randolph, about 15 miles from Brockton, Wm. J. Hackett of North Weymouth won the second annual dashing along on even terms with two horsemen run from the B. A. A. club other leaders. From that place to the house in Boston to the fair grounds in North Weymouth Hackett drew steadily away and this city yesterday. Hackett's time was 2 hours, 37 mins., and 26 1-5 seconds. The next four to finish follow: R. E. There were 50 starters and so keen and Pickett Cambridge, second; C. H. Apple was the race that a dozen went played, Yoder, third; L. Strydom, through Mattapan square, about six Yockers, fourth; J. P. Silva, South miles from the start, within three Boston, fifth.

Took the First Game in World's Championship Series

PITTSBURG, October 9.—What was a record breaking crowd for a world's championship baseball game began to gather early at Forbes field yesterday to witness the opening game of the series between Detroit, the three times champion of the American league, and Pittsburgh the winner of the National league pennant. Those who were not lucky enough nor rich enough to secure seats besieged the gates at an early hour. The gates were opened several hours before the game was scheduled to begin, but an immense crowd was on hand when the portals were thrown open.

A tremendous rush for seats followed, and in a short time all but the reserved sections and boxes were filled to overflowing with a baseball mad crowd. The holders of seat coupons strolled in more leisurely, but before the umpire called "play ball" there was not an inch of even standing room within the immense amphitheatre. Many thousands had to remain outside the gates and gather what they could of the news of the progress of the great diamond battle. Scarcely had a place of rising ground to the east and south of the field was also packed with a seething mass of humanity, which was straining every nerve to get a glimpse of what was going on behind the high fences.

Lively Practice
Both teams warmed up in lively fashion and showed plenty of snap and ginger in their work. Every move of the Pittsburgh brought forth yells of applause. Here and there in the expansive sea of wild enthusiasts could be seen the yellow and black banner of Detroit and now and then a Detroit cheer would rise only to be immediately drowned by a volcanic outburst of the local partisans.

Managers Clark and Jennings warmed up three pitchers and neither would make a prediction as to his choice. Adams, Willis and Leifeld were on the warming pan for Pittsburgh, and Mullin, Donovan and Willet were working out their arms for Detroit. It was thought that final choice would fall on Charles Adams, the phenom from the Louisville American team, who has made such an enviable record for himself with Pittsburgh this season. The reliable George Mullin was expected to be the twirler for the American league champions. Gibson for Pittsburgh, and Schmidt for Detroit were the most likely choices for the back stopping.

The Lineup
Both Matthew McIntyre and Dave Jones were in left field for Detroit, but it was thought that Jones would be named to start the game.

Following is the probable lineup of the two teams:
Detroit.—D. Jones, cf. Bush, ss. Cobb, rf. Crawford, cf. Delehanty, 2b. Moriarty, 2b. T. Jones, lb. Schmidt, c. Mullin, p. Pittsburgh.—Byrne, 2b. Leach, cf. Clarke, lf. Wagner, ss. Miller, 2b. Abstein, lb. Wilson, cf. Gibson, c. Adams, p. Umpires, O'Loughlin and Johnstone.

Ground Rules Adopted
At a preliminary conference between Managers Jennings and Clark and Umpires O'Loughlin and Johnstone the ground rules were decided upon. This took some little discussion and the whole Detroit team was on hand making suggestions.

Another short conference was held. Finally everything was adjusted, Umpire Johnstone then announced the batteries as follows:
Adams and Gibson for Pittsburgh and Mullin and Schmidt for Detroit.

Following is the detail of the play:

First Inning
Detroit.—Jones drew a base on balls. Walsh sacrificed Abstein to Miller, advancing D. Jones to second. Cobb walked. Crawford hit D. Adams, who threw to Byrne, forcing D. Jones. Delehanty singled to left, scoring Cobb and sending Crawford to third and Delehanty went to second on a throw to plate to catch Cobb. Moriarty hit a grounder which struck Delehanty as he was running to third, and Delehanty was out. Moriarty getting credit for a hit. One run.

For Pittsburgh.—Byrne popped to

Bush. Leach out; Delehanty to T. Jones. Clark out; Mullin to T. Jones. No runs.

Detroit 1, Pittsburgh 0.

Second Inning
Detroit.—T. Jones went out, Byrne to Abstein. Schmidt went out the same way. Mullin singled to center. D. Jones was out on a liner to Byrne. No runs.

Pittsburgh.—Wagner went out, Delehanty to T. Jones. Miller fled to Cobb; Abstein drew a base on balls, being the first Pittsburgh player to get first base. He was caught napping at first; Mullin to T. Jones. No runs. Score, Detroit 1, Pittsburgh 0.

Third Inning
For Detroit: Bush bunted and was out. Adams to Abstein. Cobb went out, Wagner to Abstein. Crawford hit a high bouncer over Adams' head and beat Miller's throw to Abstein. Delehanty fled to Clarke. No runs.

Pittsburgh.—Wilson went out, Moriarty to T. Jones. Gibson was second out. Delehanty to T. Jones. Adams fled out to T. Jones. No runs. Score, Detroit 1, Pittsburgh 0.

Fourth Inning
Detroit.—Moriarty went out, Byrne to Abstein. Byrne making a beautiful catch. T. Jones fled out to Leach. Schmidt got a base on balls. Mullin forced Schmidt at second, Wagner to Miller. No runs.

Pittsburgh tied the score in this inning. Byrne went out, Mullin to T. Jones. Leach struck out. Clarke knocked a home run into the right field bleachers and the Pittsburgh crowd went wild. Wagner was hit by a pitched ball. Miller fled to Cobb. No runs.

Score—Detroit 1, Pittsburgh 1.

Fifth Inning
Detroit: D. Jones singled to right. Bush forced D. Jones at second, Wagner to Miller and Miller tried for a double play but Bush beat the throw to Abstein. Cobb forced Bush at second, Wagner to Miller. Cobb stole second. The division at second was close and the Pittsburgh team disappeared with Umpire O'Loughlin and the game was delayed for a short time. Crawford fanned to Gibson. No runs.

For Pittsburgh: Delehanty hit Abstein's grounder get away from him and the ball rolled on to the field. Abstein getting to third before it was returned. Wilson struck out. Gibson doubled to center, scoring Abstein. Bush fumbled Adams' grounder, letting him go to first and Gibson moved to third. Byrne was hit in the head by a pitched ball and dropped to the ground. He was not seriously injured and went to first base, hitting the base. Leach sent a sacrifice fly to D. Jones and Gibson scored. Clarke out. Delehanty to T. Jones. Two runs. Score—Pittsburgh 3, Detroit 1.

Sixth Inning
For Detroit: Delehanty struck out, Moriarty went out to Abstein. Leach made great running catch of T. Jones' fly. No runs.

For Pittsburgh: Wagner doubled to left; Wagner started for third and Schmidt tried badly to catch him.

Seventh Inning
Detroit: Crawford grounded to Abstein and was out at first. Miller ran to the foul line behind first base and caught Delehanty's fly. Gibson ran to the boxes and caught Moriarty's foul. No runs.

Pittsburgh.—Clarke fled to Jones. Wagner was hit by a pitched ball but umpire refused to allow him to go to first as Wagner stepped into the ball. Miller singled to center. Miller stole second. Abstein struck out. No runs.

Eighth Inning
Detroit: McIntyre batted for T. Jones. Clarke made a great catch of McIntyre's short fly. Schmidt fled to Leach. Mullin struck out. No runs.

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilote, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 1, 1909. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public.

This is by far the largest average circulation of any newspaper in Lowell.

THE MAYORALTY CANDIDATES.

We have a variety of candidates for the mayoralty, some worthy and some very much the reverse. If the voters want another year of political excitement and useless wrangling they can pick out a man who will give them what they want. If they want a man who will pay attention to business rather than politics they can find such a man. Of late, however, it seems that a man who would give honest attention to business is not considered.

SOME OF THE MEAN THINGS.

Among the meanest things reported by the automobile club in connection with the auto races were certain arbitrary and exorbitant demands by land owners because of some slight trespass upon their land at dangerous corners, such as Danbar avenue. They were silent about their claims until the morning of the race when it was too late to change the location of any of the stakes. It was acts of this kind that disgusted Mr. Heinze and led him to say he would never have anything to do with another automobile race in Lowell.

WHERE SEVERE PUNISHMENT IS JUSTIFIED.

One year in jail was the sentence given in Lawrence the other day to a man who had started a fire in his store with the object of getting insurance. The sentence should be longer. The man who does anything of that kind threatens the safety of life and property throughout the entire city in which he operates.

There is reason for believing that this dangerous method of swindling insurance companies is resorted to more frequently than is generally supposed.

When it is known that the city of Chelsea was destroyed as the result of a casual blaze and the city of Chicago as the result of upsetting a lamp through the recalcitrance of Mrs. O'Leary's cow, we must appreciate the necessity and the justice of severe punishment for anybody who deliberately starts a fire in a thickly settled district for the purpose of defrauding insurance companies.

SOME UNPROGRESSIVE REAL ESTATE OWNERS.

The board of trade at a recent meeting discussed one of the obstacles in the way of bringing new industries here. It lies in the greed of real estate owners who put up the price of their land just as soon as they find any out-of-town concern considering it as a site for a factory.

This shows an utter lack of public spirit and one that is a serious handicap upon our city's progress. The men who do this are blocking the progress of our city while other men are trying to push it ahead. It is the same class of men who let their property remain unimproved while the property in the vicinity is built up and made valuable for business purposes. It is thus they seek the unearned increment derived from the enterprise of their neighbors.

The city would be well rid of such people. They lack the enterprise to improve their property and are too greedy to part with it at a fair price. The assessors should be notified of the price these people set upon their property and should make that the basis of valuation. This policy should be followed also in regard to the property of men who erect buildings in places where they will mar the beauty of the landscape and obscure the view of some of our best public buildings.

SCHOOLS OF JOURNALISM.

Schools for journalism and departments for journalism in colleges bring forth the ire of the Gloucester Times, which declares that it has yet to hear of any of these "schools" taught by newspaper men. "In the first place," the Times says, "newspaper men are too busy to engage in such an occupation, and in the second they are perfectly well aware that the newspaper business cannot be taught except by practical experience in a newspaper office. The so-called 'schools of journalism' are fakes, pure and simple, and the graduates from such institutions are about as useful in a newspaper office as the veriest land-lubber aboard ship."—Fall River Globe.

We must take exception to the views thus expressed by the Gloucester Times and apparently endorsed by the Fall River Globe relative to schools of journalism.

We do not see why journalism cannot be taught in a special school as effectively as law or medicine. We admit that the theory alone will never make a journalist, and the school of journalism that does not teach practice as well as theory does not deserve the name. The knowledge of the trained journalist is not confined to one department nor to one kind of work; and this general experience dealing with reporting, editing, special articles, interviews, editorial writing, illustration, typography, proof-reading, can be thoroughly learned only in a good newspaper office. It is quite practicable, however, to teach general reporting and editorial work in a school of journalism. But the articles written must be treated in all respects as if they were to be printed. One of the things most difficult to teach in the school of journalism is the art of news getting which depends upon the right use of the perspective, the ability, tact, and politeness of the reporter. Another thing difficult to impart in a school of journalism is a proper appreciation of the effect of publicity, that clear judgment that will at once suggest the true effect of the publication of any given article. This requires a thorough knowledge of human nature and the feelings of men and women, particularly the parties affected by the article.

The power of news gathering can be acquired only in actual practice and the knowledge of the effect of publicity comes by careful training on the judgment; but any good school of journalism should provide ample opportunity for training in both lines. Hence we see no reason why journalism cannot be successfully taught in a school of the right kind; but we admit that it can never be taught by a man who is not himself a practical journalist any more than watch-making can be taught by a man who never made a watch.

PEOPLE OF NOTE

Four Yale men have been elected to the editorial board of the Columbia Law Review, a place much coveted by students of Columbia law school. This gives Yale a majority of the board, which is now constituted as follows: George C. Thayer, A. B. Yale, 1907; William C. Vandewater, A. B. Princeton, 1907; J. Kenneth Lydell, A. B. Williams, 1908; George C. Hite, A. B. Williams, 1908; Karl W. Kierulff, A. B. Yale, 1908; Geoffrey Coara, A. B. Yale, 1908; and Philip R. Mallory, A. B. Yale, 1908. The records of the men in the law school generally govern the selections for the editorial board.

At a meeting of the Yale corporation a part of $15,000, donated by William D. and Henry T. Skene of New York, for the erection and equipment of a university physics laboratory, was announced. The laboratory will be used by the college physical science school and graduate school. Announcement was also made of the gift of $25,000 from Alfred G. Vanderbilt, a New York boarder, the general endowment. A subscription of $15,000 was received from George Hewitt Myers, a graduate of the Forest school, toward the endowment of that department. This subscription will enable the university to fill its vacancies with the general endowment fund, from which the university is receiving its maintenance. Among other gifts which the university has received is a fund left by the late Charles H. Cushman of New Haven, the income of which amounting to $3000 a year is to be devoted to the department of library.

Nathan Matthews, ex-mayor of Boston, is to give at Harvard university this year a course on municipal government in the United States, with special reference to Massachusetts cities.

MEN'S MEETING

TO BE HELD AT THE Y. M. C. A. SUNDAY

The first men's meeting of the Y. M. C. A. will be held tomorrow afternoon at the rooms of the association, at 530 Clock. Robert A. Elwood will be the speaker, and his subject is "Wanted—A man." He has appeared before large audiences all over the country and has been thoroughly appreciated.

Dr. G. B. Clark, is so well known and liked by the men of Lowell that he will make the effort to be present to deliver the great mass of the scientific quartet.

Mr. Bowen, president, will preside. On Monday evening a popular lecture will be given by Mr. Elwood at the rooms of the association. There will be orchestral music before the lecture, and as it will also be the anniversary of Sir George Williams' birthday, the opportunity will be taken to show appreciation of the work of the founder of all Y. M. C. A.'s. Tickets may be secured at the rooms.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

The Brothers Byrne, Andrew and James, Jr., are back with us once more with their merry and mysterious "Eight Bells," an enjoy the show and with many new features. They can't be beat for accurate stunts, tricks, scenery and pantomime. They kept the audience on the broad grin last evening. In addition to the "Bells" features of the show, there were many pleasing spectacles on the side and as merry a couple of hours as one could desire is provided. The ship scene on the "Eight Bells" and the sidesplitting carriage "explosion" that has made countless thousands roar with laughter, are still with the show, and they are done to perfection. The cast, with a little doubling up of the various actors, is long. A number of specialties were introduced last night, some of them better than the others are "Gills." They were "Jimmy" Byrne in singing and dancing; Al Grenier and Frank LaFosse, comedy entertainers; John Byrne, troupe of acrobats; Harry Buckton, mystifier; Hoover and Clark in a dancing specialty; and Myrtle Miller, a young soprano.

"Eight Bells" will be given twice today, this afternoon when popular prices will prevail, and tonight.

"WANTED BY THE POLICE"

The management of the opera house announces the engagement of "Wanted by the Police" on Monday, Oct. 11.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

If Hathaway's theatre does not draw record breaking audiences next week it will not be the fault of the show, but the management has provided, which is first class in quality, from "A" to "Z" moving pictures. The principal feature of the show is "Double Trouble," played by Pitts Brothers & Co., two men and two women. The fact that two features are twins, their resemblance to each other being so close that they themselves can hardly tell which is which, adds much to the plot of the sketch, which deals with the honeymoon of a happy married pair. The play deals with the adventures, experiences, and the various incidents and wrestling of the ancient Greeks and Romans. Amy Ricard, Lester Lounsbury, the daintiest act in vaudeville. ## VICTIM OF MURDER IN BIG AUTO RACE

Mutilated Body of Man Found at Haverhill Today

Christus Chapas Now Held on Murder Charge With Certain Evidence Against Him

HAVERHILL, Oct. 9.—The discovery today in a local cemetery of the mutilated body of Constantus Chasiodes, a Greek, who disappeared last Saturday and for whom a search has been made ever since, led to the holding on a charge of murder of his roommate, Christus Chapas, who had previously been arrested on a larceny accusation.

Chasiodes was seen with Chapas last Saturday night and from other lodgers in the same house it was learned that the former had with him nearly a hundred dollars. Chapas was arrested in Boston, where he had shown considerable money for an ordinary shoe hand, at the request of the local police and was brought into court on the larceny charge.

In the meantime the police had begun a search for Chasiodes and today the body of the Greek was found with several wounds on the head and chest. It was turned over to the medical examiner and the charge against Chapas at once changed to murder. Both men worked in local shoe shops and were unmarried.

At the conclusion of an autopsy upon the body of Chasiodes, Medical Examiner Dr. John E. Crofton reported that the man was killed by a revolver wound in the back. It was then arranged to bring Chapas into the district court at 5 p. m. to answer to the charge of murder.

HARRY W. J. HOWE

Will Ask for Waste Basket Appropriation

Harry W. J. Howe of the board of charities was at the office of the board at city hall when a reporter for The Sun dropped in this forenoon.

"What means this talk about you not going to resign?" asked the reporter. "Have you expressed any such intention?"

"No, indeed," said Mr. Howe, "I never said anything about resigning. There isn't any reason in the world why I should resign. I have done and am doing what I believe to be my duty to the people of Lowell and I stand ready to answer all questions and criticisms."

"Do you think that the stand you took was a popular one?" queried the reporter.

"I do not care as to the popularity of it," said Mr. Howe, "but I feel that the worthy power will endorse my action and my attitude. I am deeply interested in this matter and I do not purpose to take any back water. I have been encouraged by clergymen and others, and there is not one thing contained in my report or in the recommendations I am making that I would retract. I am determined that conditions at the city farm shall be improved."

The recommendations submitted by me were in the interest of Lowell's unfortunate people and the mission of the board is to dispense charity. I will say that I do believe public opinion is with me along the lines that I have mentioned and the recommendations submitted by me represent public opinion and arouse public sentiment. I believe that those recommendations will be put into operation. If the present board refuses to submit to the will of the people another board will, for even members of a board of charities are servants of the people and should do the will of the people."

The action of the board of charities in consigning Mr. Howe's charges and recommendations to the waste basket does not meet with public favor. It has in the basis of the schoolboy and the reckless disposition of the "filling you" element.

There is opportunity for a little joke, if one would be facetious, for as a matter of fact there wasn't any waste basket at the meeting, and there being no waste basket how could Mr. Howe's charges and recommendations be consigned to it?

When it was moved and voted to consign Mr. Howe's labor to the waste basket he looked about him for the basket, but there was none in sight. He was wondering what in the world he would do with it, when a reporter asked him if he might have it. Mr. Howe was but too glad to give the papers to the reporter as it relieved the clerk of the board of a great responsibility.

At the next meeting of the board Mr. Howe will move a waste basket appropriation in order that the papers which were returned by the reporter may be interred in the proper cemetery.

It is quite generally conceded that the board instead of consigning Mr. Howe's charges and recommendations to the waste basket should have tabled them and should have appointed a committee to investigate the charges. Then if it were found that Mr. Howe had made unfair or untruthful charges, his brother and sister members could have "rubbed it in" at their own sweet will.

HE GAVE $12,000 Morgan Pays Big Money For Engraving

PARIS, Oct. 9.—Junius S. Morgan, a nephew of J. Pierpont Morgan, has just purchased the most beautiful engraving to be had in Paris. Mr. Morgan, who is making a long sojourn in Paris, happened upon it in a shop in the Louvre.

In suarter. It is a Rembrandt engraving by the artist himself, and its value is still further enhanced by the fact that it is an "engraver's copy."

The price, moreover, is $12,000. Morgan is $12,000. He has bought for his uncle and consequently the purchase is conditional. In fact, since J. Pierpont Morgan's many disagreeable experiences with tricky art dealers he pays for no work of art until one year after purchase. This allows time for examination by experts and minimizes the chances of fraud.

The nephew's purchase of the Rembrandt comes under the uncle's rule. It is the most costly engraving in Paris with the exception of a few in the D. Tuft collection.

FEIGNED ILLNESS

TO IDLE HIS HOURS AT THE SEASIDE

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 9.—Richard Grant, a midshipman at the Naval academy, has been dismissed for obtaining leave under false pretenses.

From August 14 to September 24, with the assistance of a young lady to whom he was devoted, Grant obtained leave from the academy. He claimed a favorite uncle was dying in Philadelphia. Leave was granted when word came the uncle had died.

The midshipman's return was hastened by the news, transmitted through the young lady's intermediary, that he had fallen ill and must undergo an operation. Then one one who knew Grant dropped a tip about the real cause of Grant's absence, whereupon the academy officials promptly swung the axe.

RELAYING TRACKS

Important Work Progressing in Merrimack Square

New Rails Are Being Laid Farther Apart to Meet Requirements of Modern Cars—Electric Switches May be Installed

For a bustling, hard-working crowd of laborers commend us to the bunch of employees of the Boston & Northern who are relaying the tracks in Merrimack square, under the direction of Division Road Superintendent E. P. Seymour.

The company started in with the week to tear up its old tracks from Merrimack square to Dutton street to get the new ones down in advance of the pavers, just as the gas-light company relaid its mains a week or more ago and the railroad people will have finished their work one week from tonight.

Of course it's a nuisance at present with the street torn up and the dust and dirt and nerve-racking clatter, but when one stops to consider that it is only for two weeks in 15 years and that it means more comfortable riding and a better and safer street, patience should come to the rescue and all should cheerfully put up with the temporary inconvenience.

The street railroad company is not only relaying its tracks but is making certain improvements made necessary by time, progress and the railroad commission and once it finishes it guarantees that the public will not be bothered again for 15 years, for the tracks now being laid will not need repairing again for that period.

The company made its starting point at the track that connects Bridge and Prescott streets and finished that part of the work in "one" time. The new Draught Centre-Boston line is the only line that is running through trips, making the connection by running up Prescott street to Merrimack square instead of through Central street.

It is amusing to watch people standing in Merrimack square for five or ten minutes every day waiting for cars and to note the expression of disgust that comes over their countenances as it dawns on them that the cars are not running through. Owing to the condition of the square, the cars would have to travel through Merrimack street stop at Central street and then turn into the square and back again, likewise all lines running to Belvidere.

Special police officers are stationed in Merrimack square day and night to keep the street clear for vehicles and in case of fire and should you leave your wagon or auto in the square for more than a minute don't feel indignant if a police officer orders you to move along. It has to be done in the interest of public safety and convenience.

The street railway men are working day and night and like Trojans to finish the job as quickly as possible. Last night a crew of 40 men from the Lawrence division relieved the Lowell crew and worked all night on the job. Night and day shifts are being worked, and it was necessary to borrow men from the Lawrence division yesterday.

Supt. Seymour informed a reporter of The Sun that he finds it difficult to get the necessary help in this city.

In watching the work the spectators' attention is attracted by the fact that the new tracks are being laid farther apart than the old ones and he would imagine that the workmen had made an amusing mistake in trying to lay a straight line. Such is not the case, however, for henceforth all tracks will be laid at least four feet ten inches apart, in accordance with a new rule laid down by the railroad commissioners. Heretofore, four feet four inches was the distance limit. But now the commissioners demand that the distance must be at least four ft. 10 inches and as much more as the company cares to lay them. This is done as a precaution against the latter day cars which are wider than the old ones, striking each other as they pass.

In Lawrence all tracks are five feet apart. In this city they are being laid four feet 10 inches in some places and five feet wherever the width of the street permits. Another improvement at Merrimack square relative to the laying of the tracks is the increased distance between the tracks on the Bridge and Prescott street curves. At these points the rails are laid over five feet apart, so that the biggest cars can round the curves on opposite rails at the same time without striking, a feat that couldn't be performed on the old rails.

The new rails come directly from the Pennsylvania Steel company and are the heaviest ever used in Lowell and of the most modern construction. They are laid on heavy sleepers to which they are firmly fastened by huge spikes, and at the ends they are bonded together with what are known as angle and fish plates. A most important part of the work and the slowest part is the drilling and bonding of the tracks at the end. Great care is exercised in this line of the work and the tracks are down to remain, one would think, forever.

The company is seriously considering the matter of installing the new electric switches in this city. It has ordered one for Lawrence as an experiment and if it proves feasible it will be tried in this city. The electric switch is operated from the overhead trolley wire. The switch connection may be placed 10, 50 or 100 feet from the switch on the trolley wire. As soon as the trolley wheel strikes it a connection is made and the switch turns automatically. It may also be operated in the old way by the motorman and stick and will have to be when two cars running in the same direction come along. For instance if two cars come along that are to turn the corner of Prescott street, the first car would throw the switch so as to permit it to take the rail it desires while the second car would throw the switch back to the East Merrimack or Bridge street rail making it necessary for the motorman to turn it as it throws back and forth in order. For the present, however, the old time switch system will be operated.

PERMIT TO BUILD

Application Made by People Who Will Build Storehouse

Burgess, Lang, & Co., of Boston, have made application for a permit to build their big storehouse in Jackson street. The application was filed at the office of the inspector of buildings at city hall yesterday, but the permit has not yet been issued. The delay, however, will not be of long duration. There are a few minor things that will have to be looked up by the department and the permit will be issued the early part of next week.

C. H. Blackall of Boston is the architect and the building will be a first class one, of skeleton construction and every wall will be carried upon a steel frame.

It is stated on the application for the permit that the entire construction will be of steel and cement and, according to specifications, it will be one of the best buildings in Lowell. The size of the building as given on the application for a permit to build is 125 x 297-5, eight stories high. The highest point of the roof from the level of the sidewalk will be 135-6.

WILL NOT GET TROPHY

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 9.—Because S. L. Von Paul, pilot of the balloon St. Louis number 5, forgot to mail a letter to the Aero club of America, notifying that body of his intention to try for the Lahm cup, his flight from St. Louis into Minnesota will not give him the trophy. Similarly the neglect of H. E. Honeywell to notify the organization just before the start that the balloon Centennial was also a contender for the Lahm prize has disqualified him. Therefore the cup will remain in the possession of Captain Chandler of the United States army.

MOSBY KILLED HIMSELF

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 9.—George Mosby, alias Gilbert, aged 50, awaiting trial at the county jail, killed himself against a buzz saw today. Mosby, caught stealing a bottle of whiskey in a saloon, had been held for the superior court. Today he got into the chair shop of the jail, claiming he had been sentenced. Being set to work, he got near the machinery and springing upon the table laid his neck against the circular saw, which almost decapitated him. Mosby had said he came from North Adams where he was a railroad brakeman.

DETROIT IN LEAD

Over 30,000 People at Today's Great Game

Weather Conditions are Perfect Again—No Sunday Games Will be Played—Both Teams Will Spend Sunday in Detroit

PITTSBURG, Oct. 9.—Another large crowd turned out for the second game of the world championship series at Forbes field today. Cheered on by the decisive victory of Pittsburgh yesterday, the local enthusiasts were out in force and had hopes that the National league champions would win the series in four straight games, but the Detroit followers appeared to have a different view of the subject.

The crowd started pouring into the immense amphitheatre long before the game was scheduled to start and it soon appeared as though the great crowd of yesterday would be equaled or even surpassed. Predictions were freely made that the crowd would number more than 30,000 paid admissions.

No Sunday Games. Both teams are scheduled to leave for Detroit tonight to spend Sunday in Detroit. There will be no Sunday game in Detroit despite the fact that the American league champions have been playing regularly on Sunday. These games were being played without the cognizance of the city officials because there is a law forbidding Sunday baseball in Detroit. It was feared, however, that the large crowds attendant upon the world's championship game would cause complaints and might result in stopping all Sunday games. Therefore, the Detroit management decided not to take any chances. The train also will carry the national commission, the umpires, official scorers and newspaper correspondents.

Manager Clarke wore a confident smile as he led his men on the field. Each man was roundly applauded, but the hero's share of the cheering was centered on Leach, Wagner and Gibson, the heroes of the first battle. It was expected that Clarke would send in as pitcher Howard Canitz, who has just recovered from an attack of throat trouble. Maddox and Willis also worked out before the game and there was a chance that either of them might be sent in if Canitz failed to warm up well enough to please Clarke. Manager Jennings of Detroit refused to take a pessimistic view of the situation and he and his men came on the field today determined to win.

Looks Like Donovan. Delahanty and Bush were defeated over their errors of yesterday and were determined that no more from them should mar the playing of their team. Jennings had Donovan, Summers and Willet warming up but said he would probably use the veteran Donovan.

Game in Detail. The game was called at 2 p. m. and in detail was as follows:

First Inning. Detroit.—D. Jones beat a hit to Wagner. Bush sacrificed, Canitz to Abstein; D. Jones going to second. On a hit and run signal Cobb failed to hit, and D. Jones was caught stealing third. Gibson to Byrne. Byrne was slightly spiked in stopping Jones at third, and the game was delayed for a minute. Cobb went out, Miller to Abstein. No runs.

Pittsburgh.—Byrne drew a base on balls. Leach doubled to right field, scoring. Byrne sacrificed, Donovan to Jones, sending Leach to third. Wagner struck out.

The game was delayed by discussion as to whether Miller's hit was a double under the ground rule and both umpires decided it was so only Leach's score will count, Miller returning to second base.

Schmidt dropped Abstein's high, but easy foul. Schmidt getting an error. Abstein struck out. Two runs.

Second Inning. Detroit.—Crawford struck out. Delahanty out. Wagner to Abstein. Moriarty singled to left, hit. T. Jones singled to left, sending Moriarty to third on a hit and run play. Schmidt doubled to center, scoring Moriarty and T. Jones. Donovan struck out. Two runs.

Pittsburgh.—Wilson out. Donovan to T. Jones. Gibson walks. In attempting to sacrifice, Canitz bunted a little to Moriarty. Gibson stole second, a high throw by Schmidt helping him. Byrne struck out. No runs.

Third Inning. D. Jones was safe when Abstein muffed Byrne's assist on a bunt about the third base line. Bush singled to left, sending D. Jones to second. Cobb drew a base on balls, filling the bases, with none out. It appears as if Canitz will be taken out of the box, as both Clarke and Wagner are talking to him. Canitz, however, was given another chance. Crawford slid out to Clarke in short left and T. Jones did not attempt to score from third. Delahanty singled to center, scoring D. Jones and Bush and sending Cobb to third and taking second on Leach's throw to third to get Cobb. Willis is now pitching for Pittsburgh. Cobb stole home on the first ball pitched by Willis, making a considerable slide for the plate. Moriarty threw a base on balls. Tom Jones hit a bouncer to Willis and Delahanty was forced at third. Willis to Byrne. Schmidt died to Clarke. Three runs.

Pittsburgh.—Leach doubled along the left field line. Clarke slid to Crawford in deep center and Leach did not try for third after the catch. Wagner fouled to Schmidt. Miller struck out. No runs.

6 O'CLOCK WORLD'S RECORD For Speeding Aeroplane Broken by Wilbur Wright

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Oct. 9.—With practically a dead calm settled over College Park, Wilbur Wright today broke the world's record for speeding an aeroplane over a 500 metre course, including a turn beyond the course, his time being 55.3 seconds or 29 seconds less than that made by Delagrèze over a similar course in France. Mr. Wright attained a speed of 46 miles an hour for the distance.

As Wright left the starting point, Lieut. Lahm took the time. Wright made the 500 metres in the direction of Washington with a slight wind to his back in 24.1-3 seconds. He returned over the course in 24.3-5 seconds. So much did the aviator urge the machine with all the power turned on that it bobbed perceptibly more than it did during its slower flight yesterday.

Previous to the record flight Wright made some short flights in the presence of his army aeronautical pupils, using the government aeroplane. On one occasion he acquired a speed of 41 miles an hour over a measured course.

On the first flight the aviator circled the large field for a period of six minutes. A few minutes later the aviator attempted to get the aeroplane in the air without the use of the weights and starting apparatus. This, however, failed and the flyer was taken back in 24.1-3 seconds. He returned over the course in 24.3-5 seconds. So much did the aviator urge the machine with all the power turned on that it

THE PFEFFER CASE

PITTSBURG, Oct. 9.—Action on the Pfeffer case in which President Charles W. Murphy of the Chicago Nationals was fined $500 for his alleged tampering with Pitcher Pfeffer of the Toronto club will be taken up by the national baseball commission in Detroit in the series there between Pittsburgh and Detroit.

The commission did not meet this morning, the announcement being made that further consideration of President Murphy's action had been deferred until a meeting would be held in Detroit.

FIRST WIFE TRUE

After a Separation of 18 Years

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—What kind of a letter should a wife write to a husband from whom she has been separated for eighteen years? Add to this that in the meantime the husband had been married to two other women, one of whom he had divorced, and that the first wife realized that her heart still beat true to the love of long ago. Should the letter be coldly impersonal or pulsing with the emotion which the writer feels?

Mrs. Lillian Marie Brown Smith, a handsome woman of forty, who married John Cotton Smith in June, 1888, has answered the question. After parting with him in 1901 she saw and heard from him no more until June of this year. Then she saw his advertisement asking for information concerning her in a Kansas City paper. Before she came back to live as his wife at the St. Paul hotel, in this city, she wrote as follows:

"Of course I am more worldly wise than I was in 1888, and you would not find it so easy to impress on me, and besides, we are almost strangers now and you would have to court me again. Cotton, I am afraid you did wrong in letting me go, and I am also afraid you are doing wrong in trying to get me back."

A Connoisseur in Love Making

"I have been courted by many since we separated and am at present somewhat of a connoisseur in love making. So you see if we should meet again I might not feel toward each other as we did in 1888."

"How long ago it seems! You—strong and handsome, young, pretty and petite. Oh, how long ago it seems—and yet I wish I might see you, for you know you knew my husband, and my first love."

"I am tired tonight, and something the wind maybe or the rain, or the cry of a bird in the copse outside has brought back the past and its pain. I feel as I sit here thinking that the hand of a dead past has reached out to take hold of my heart's house string and is drawing them up in time."

"I am tired tonight, I tell you and I long for you, love, through my tears. It seems but today that I saw you—your face, your eyes, your hair, your voice. I seem to be so very lonely—so very lonely—so very lonely."

The Wall of a Wary Heart

BRITISH GOVERNMENT

Will Make No Overtures to the House of Lords

LONDON, Oct. 9.—At least some for the conflict if it were forced upon members of the cabinet are opposing them. Any compromise, such as suggested by King Edward, to prevent a constitutional crisis over the budget, Winston Churchill, president of the board of trade, speaking last night at the National Liberal club, declared that the government would make no overtures to the house of lords and would accept no compromise and that no amendment to the finance bill by the upper house would be entertained. The house of lords, Mr. Churchill added, had no right to interfere in any way with the financial business of the government, directly or indirectly, and the liberals, having a united party and a resolute prime minister, were ready

CATHOLIC NOTES

Holy Name Communion at St. Peter's

The quarterly communion of St. Peter's Holy Name society of St. Peter's church takes place tomorrow and unless all signs fail, the attendance promises to surpass that of any previous event of its kind in the parish. The society has grown to remarkable proportions since the last mission at the church and hence the biggest turnout since the reorganization is hoped for.

The members will attend the 8 o'clock mass in St. Paul's chapel, forming in line at the fair hall at 7:50 o'clock. At the church, seats will be reserved for the men and the Holy Name choir under the direction of Jas. E. Donnelly will render a special program. Mr. John J. Kelly will preside at the organ.

After mass the members will march to Lincoln hall, where breakfast will be served by the ladies of the parish under the direction of Mrs. Katherine McQuade. The breakfast committee met last evening and completed the plans, the returns from the double postal cards, issued this week, being most encouraging for a fine attendance. After breakfast the members will be addressed by Rev. Daniel J. Keleher, Ph. D., the new pastor, Rev. Fr. Barnes, the spiritual director, and the other clergymen attached to the church. A musical and literary program by well known talent will be carried out under the direction of the literary committee. It will be the first communion day of the society since Rev. Dr. Keleher assumed the pastorate and hence it is confidently expected that every member on the rolls will attend. It will also be the first breakfast of the society since the admission of the new members, and the officers are sanguine that this feature of the communion day will be a big success.

To Lay Corner Stone
The exercises incidental to the laying of the corner stone of the new church of St. Mary's Star of the Sea parish in East Boston will take place tomorrow afternoon and will be held at the residence of Mrs. Mary J. Keleher, 100 St. Mary's street. The new church is splendidly situated in what is called the fourth section of East Boston at the junction of Broadway and Moore street and will be an imposing structure when completed. The pastor of the church, Rev. Wm. H. McDonough, is well known in Lowell, having been formerly attached to St. Peter's church here. Many Lowell people will go down to attend the exercises, including several of the clergy. Rev. Fr. McDonough hopes to have the basement of the church completed in time to hold services at Christmas. The work on the auditorium will then be rushed to completion.

Plans a Bazaar
Rev. Joachim V. Rea, the zealous pastor of St. Anthony's church, is making plans for the holding of a bazaar in aid of the church, some time during the winter.

THE DEMOCRATS

Will Hold a Rally Monday Evening

There will be a rally in a social hall Monday evening in the interest of the democratic state ticket. Invitations have been sent to a number of prominent local democrats to act as vice presidents and the indications are that the hall will be crowded. The speakers will be Hon. James H. McLaughlin, candidate for lieutenant governor, and Hon. Charles H. Hamilton. The speakers will be met at the Northern station and will be escorted to the hall where the rally will take place.

PRICE OF COTTON

May Cause Curtailment Early Next Year

BOSTON, Oct. 9.—A movement born of unrest of long standing is in progress throughout the leading cotton textile districts of the world, looking towards a general curtailment of production early next year. The principal reasons advanced for the movement are the gradual increase in the cost of raw material in the southern states and in Egypt, and the failure of the dry goods markets to respond in a way which would assure continued profit to manufacturers during the next twelve months.

The proposition of the Arkwright club calls for the suspension of work for 21 working hours between the date of the agreement and Aug. 1, 1910 to become effective when no less than 7,000,000 spindles have been signed up. Reports from different sections of New England indicate that the proposition of the Arkwright club is meeting with an encouraging response. Such a curtailment, however, is not likely to become effective in this state in the immediate future as many of the mills that will sign an agreement will be unable to fill present orders without steady running until well into January.

The curtailment movement is of great interest in New Bedford and other places where the operatives have been refused a restoration of a ten per cent. cut in wages made in 1908. It is suggested that if the New Bedford manufacturers are in sympathy with the thirty day closing movement the effect of a strike in that city would be partially nullified.

The curtailment has also been taken up by the southern cotton mill owners. Yesterday the board of governors of the American Cotton Manufacturers' association at a meeting in Charlotte, N. C., adopted resolutions setting forth their claim that the present disparity between the price of cotton and cotton goods precludes the possibility of the successful operation of southern mills. A committee was appointed to formulate a curtailment agreement which every mill in the south will be urged to sign.

Secretary E. W. Crews of the Southern Cotton Manufacturers' association states that more mills are closing down now than at any time in the history of the country. He says that unless prices improve decidedly at once mills will be forced to close rather than continue operations at heavy loss. A certain cotton producing and selling centers the claim has been made that the present curtailment movement is largely an attempt to avoid an advance in wages but the officials of the Arkwright club deny that the curtailment has anything to do with their existing claims.

The cotton mills of New England including yarn mills employ upward of 200,000 hands.

LOWELL THANKS JUDGE DANA FOR SAVING HER FROM INJUSTICE AND DISGRACE

TEXTILE SCHOOL CIVIL SESSION

Sitting in Lowell May be Abandoned

Unless Mayor William H. Bent to say prevails upon Chief Justice Aiken to send another judge to Lowell after next week the present session of the Textile school will be played this year at Washington park and Coach Church is working hard to turn out a fast aggregation. The material this year is extremely promising and the line consists of heavy men who have had considerable experience while the back field is made up of men who are speedy and ran well with the ball. The first two games were the hardest of the season and although they resulted in defeats for the local boys they have not been discouraged as the games were against the two strongest preparatory schools in New England, namely, Andover and Exeter. This afternoon the fast St. John's preparatory school of Andover will be Textile's opponent, and a fast name is looked for as the St. John's team comes to Lowell with a big reputation.

The Phi Psi fraternity held their annual smoker Friday evening at their home on Mt. Washington street and quite a few of their friends were present. The first part of the evening was spent in singing, etc. As this is an annual event quite a number of the old men were back renewing old acquaintances. About ten o'clock refreshments were served and a social hour was enjoyed after which songs were sung the party breaking up at a seasonable hour.

Last Wednesday afternoon the men interested in track sports did a little work out of doors under the direction of Coach Church. # FOUND NOT GUILTY

Man Was Accused of Breaking Pane of Glass

John Mason was arraigned before Judge Hickey in police court this morning on a complaint charging him with breaking a pane of glass in the house of his stepfather, John De-car-tor, in North Chelmsford, on the 30th of September. Mason entered a plea of not guilty and conducted his own case, while the government was represented by J. Joseph O'Connor.

During the course of the testimony it was brought out that the defendant's mother had married the complainant and left him about six weeks ago for some reason or other and that the feeling between the two men had not been very good since then.

Mr. De-car-tor testified that on the night of Sept. 30th, at about 8:45 o'clock, while he was preparing to go to bed he was startled by the sound of breaking glass, which was immediately followed by three stones which passed in close proximity to his head. He did not know at the time who had thrown the stones, but afterwards learned that it was Joe Mason.

The son of the preceding witness testified that he saw the breaking of glass and saw Mason running down the road. He knew that it was Mason for the moon was out and the night was very clear.

Mason, testifying in his own behalf, said that he was in the habit of retiring early at night and on the night of the alleged stone throwing he had come to bed about eight o'clock. Witness admitted, however, that he had had trouble with the complainant.

Two occupants of the house where Mason resides corroborated the testimony offered by him.

The court after considering the evidence in the case found the defendant not guilty and ordered him discharged.

ROBBED OF $400

Man Attacked at the Brockton Fair

BROCKTON, Oct. 9.—Clarence Van Dyke, 24, of Hartford, Conn., who was visiting a friend at the Brockton fair yesterday, was held up by two men at the Johnson's barn, outside the fair grounds, gagged, badly beaten and robbed of $400.

Shortly after 5 o'clock last night Van Dyke had supper on the fair grounds, and upon paying for his meal flatched a roll of bills.

Directly opposite him sat two men, about 30 years of age. It is believed that they saw Van Dyke's roll.

After finishing his meal Van Dyke walked toward Johnson's stable, and as he reached the door one of the two men jumped on him and grabbed his throat, shutting off his wind.

The other man, according to the police, kicked and beat the Hartford man and then took the $400.

The two men escaped, but the Brockton police are of the opinion that the robbers hail from Boston and are two well-known crooks.

THE FINAL ROUND

Of the Woman's Golf Championship

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 9.—Miss Dorothy Campbell of North Berwick, Scotland, met Mrs. Ronald Harlow of Philadelphia today in the final round for the women's national golf championship over the course of the Merion Cricket club at Haverford. Miss Campbell is the champion of Great Britain, while Mrs. Harlow has held the championship of the Philadelphia district. Three years ago at Hoston she reached the semi-final round in the national event. Should Miss Campbell win to-day she will be the first foreigner to win a United States title.

Conditions for the all important match are perfect.

On the form shown by the two players during the week Miss Campbell is believed to have the better chance of winning the match and title. She has won all her matches in more or less easy fashion and when in tight places proved to be cool and did not lose her head. Mrs. Harlow is an experienced player with plenty of grit, and her friends have strong hope that she will merit herself well and keep the championship on this side of the Atlantic.

La Mode's Display of Furs

Old Favorites In New Guise

Cabby Cape a Smart Newcomer

IN Paris women have been wearing furs with ridiculous persistency during the past summer, or the "winter painted green," which has been masqueraded as "silk" on the other side of the water. And it was no unusual sight to find fur turbans in the same costume company with lingerie frocks. In America fashion did not go such a cold weather pace, but now that fall is here we are wearing the fur edged scarfs that the Parisienne hung about her graceful shoulders at the Grand Prix in July. It's a smart little wrap and just the thing for days that are not really cold enough for "small furs." The scarf is of mousseline de sole used in double lengths, such as white over black, gray over a color and all kinds of combinations, while the edges are bordered with narrow bands of fur. Narrow velvet ruchings also border such scarfs, and tiny silk pinned ruchings and buttons are other decorations that are less expensive and very attractive. In length the scarfs reach to the hem of the skirt or to any becoming point between waist line and knee.

When required for actual warmth these scarfs are best made of wide, soft satin or dull finished crapes in rich, fruity reds and dull shades of blue and green. Several bands of fur are then used, two or four narrow bandings being placed down the center of the scarf. Bands of peltry in all widths are going to be a modish trimming this season on gowns and coats, and fur collars and cuffs combined with braidings are seen on hand. Also using fur in connection with velvet, and a Fifth Avenue shop is displaying a fetching cavalier hat of oyster white felt whose only trimming is a crown and fastening with a huge white camellia without foliage at the edge of the drooping brim on the left side. As you know, the cavalier hat turns up abruptly on the right side, and in this instance the curve shows the lining of brown velvet that faces the underbrim.

In small furs the animal sets are very much in evidence, and by way of change the furriers are asking us to wear the heads and tails of animals under our throats instead of behind, as has been the custom for several years. Grets of gathered silk or button are mixed with fur tails, and rich wide embroideries are combined with fur in the making of flat wide muffs. Large bows of satin ribbon fasten fur necklets at the side of the neck, a becoming fashion in the case of light pelts. The skins most used for these "small furs" are long haired pelts, and in the lead are silver, black and gray fox, pointed fox and silver fox, dyed a rich deep brown. Lynx has lost much of its deserved popularity. Fisher, a fur new to this generation, but beloved by our grandmothers, has been revived. It is a first cousin to the sable, though much less expensive, ranking with the best quality of mink. The stole is consenting to proceed on its way without any very striking alteration. There are some new notions in the way of stoles, but really no decided difference in the stoles themselves. They are still square and wide on the shoulders. Long early Victorian scarfs, accompanied by large rug muffs, are smart and in peleries the portions which rest on the shoulders are quite narrow and even where heads are introduced straight effects are the height of fashion. One very striking novelty in furs is the coachman's cape, the design being borrowed from the man who sits atop the family landau, with his high collar turned up to his ears and in a picture of comfort and warmth on midwinter days. These short capes will be very popular, cut to end at the waist line or with sharp points back and front. A stimulating cape of the coachman style is in beaver and skunk. Indeed, this pelt, gathered from the animal that is the terror of rural society this season, finds itself in very attractive company, often to use a homely expression, bobbing cheek

MONA GODRE.

The Wonder Child Actress Discovered by Yvette Guilbert.

MONA GODRE, a portrait of whom is given, is indeed a "wonder child," but she has none of the painful precocity of the "infant prodigy." She is just a child pure and simple and enjoys reciting and singing because she is a consummate little actress.

She was born in Paris in 1897, and four years ago that clever artist, who is the kindest of little, Yvette Guilbert, discovered little Mona at some classes. There the child's education, pretty voice and intelligence struck her so forcibly that she determined to train her as her own pupil. In 1907 Mona carried off a first prize given by the city of Paris for extraordinary singing. In the same year she received successively the first prize for memory and the first prize for singing. She had held her own over forty other candidates, all older than herself.

Mona Godre became the principal singer of Edmond Milla's charming song "For the Little Ones." But a French composer, sent her his "Song of the Western Show," and, dressed as a Breton maid, she sang these quaint and melodiously simple, so truly Celtic in spirit, which made her popular at the Theatre Feytaud, Paris. Her success is great with these delicate masterpieces known as the "Fables of the Breton" (Fables of the Breton) of which Yvette Guilbert alone possesses a copy. Mona sings these songs in Breton and sometimes in French. A Parisian little actress it would be impossible to imagine. Yet, possessing the natural grace and freshness of her age, she is quite at home on the stage, and her talent is original in the highest degree.

Mona is in great request as a drawing room performer, delighting young and old by her sense of humor and pretty pathos, for she is a most versatile performer and can portray any sentiment. The critics speak highly of her. She has only one ambition—to resemble as closely as possible her adored teacher and model, the inimitable Yvette Guilbert.

Wrinkles That Come From Worry

Why Some Women Grow Haggard Before Their Time

Do One Thing Well the Secret of Content and Success

THE woman who lives long is not the one who has the easiest life; she is the one who knows how to spare herself. A certain amount of cunningness in this direction is absolutely necessary if we don't want to advertise to the world by our drawn faces and wrinkled skins how hard we are working.

A woman I met recently had just come east after fifteen years of struggle to earn her living in Texas. A worthless husband had deserted her, and she had managed to support herself and her little daughter. After all these years she was making her first visit home to her relatives, and they marveled that she looked so young after struggling so hard away out on a ranch where there were no complexion creams or beautifiers and where, indeed, the water was hard enough to ruin any complexion.

But actually she didn't have one wrinkle and looked younger than most of her friends of the same age. We were soon to learn the reason why.

When the time came for her to go back to Texas she started on a small local train with some friends who were going to a nearby city. We asked her if she knew what time she would get a train from there going westward, and she smilingly said she did not. Inquiries as to where she was going to stop for the night and how soon she would reach home brought the same answer. She merely started on her way and let herself be transferred from place to place without the slightest qualm. That woman knew the secret of keeping young—she never worried.

Worry Wrinkles.

On the other hand, I have a friend trapped in luxury who has a fine network of wrinkles all over her lovely face. And these came solely from worry—useless worry at that—but she never is happy unless she has something to fuss about. If everything is going so well that the present offers her no satisfaction she always has the future to fall back upon.

Silly woman! The time to worry is when real trouble comes, and only then, and the wisest women don't even worry at that time; they do something instead.

Speaking of wrinkles, there are many causes that lead to them. Eye strain is one of the most frequent. Near-sighted people nearly always frown in an awkward, peering sort of way, endeavoring to see what they cannot focus. If the eyes are left in their natural position, eye strain will cause both horizontal and vertical wrinkles in the forehead and fine wrinkles at the corners of the eyes themselves.

Learn to Relax.

Exposing the face to the glare of the sun or the water is equally productive of wrinkles.

No matter how strenuous you feel within, relax your face and assume a don't care expression, outwardly at least. This is good for your self control as well as your skin.

The skin should always be kept pliable. Here is a simple treatment which may be practiced by any one at home. It should not be done by the way, immediately before going out of doors.

Soften the face first with cold cream, then spread over the face a cloth of Turkish toweling wet with as hot water as you can stand. Over this place two thick layers of both toweling and oiler to cool. Repeat this process four or five times, then rub in cold cream, and wipe it off again. The last stage consists of applications of ice water to tone up the skin.

Speaking of creams, never use one that contains lanolin unless you wish to raise a beard. It is a prime hair grower.

This is the time of the year when the girl who recklessly exposed her skin all summer weeps and wails. There is nothing so senseless as this reckless tanning of the skin as if it were leather. It concerns the pores so that they never can be made fine again.

Reward of System.

The trouble with the average woman who tries to earn her living is that she rarely does one single thing well. That is the cry of all the people who try to help her. "Oh, if she were only thorough in one branch instead of doing half a dozen half heartedly!"

No matter how humble the accomplishment—making bread, making shirt waists or writing a good, clear hand—it is worth something, where a smattering of all the accomplishments in the world is positively useless.

I think we can train ourselves along these lines by not letting ourselves pick up things only to lay them down again, by concentrating the entire mind on what we are doing, by not starting half a dozen pieces of embroidery at once, but by finishing the one we have on hand before taking up another. These things all help to form the sort of character which is a woman's best friend in the hour of need and in fact at all times.

FALL WEDDING GOWNS.

Marriage vows are so easily broken nowadays by the divorce courts that the full bride may have a chance as going to the altar as many times as fancy dictates, but there is only one chance in her life of wearing the real wedding gown of white material with the regulation veil of tulle or lace, so if she can afford it is well to make sure of appearing in bridal array at least once. But, to speak less pessimistically, it is the dream of every girl to don a wedding frock of white silk or satin with a train just as long as she can conveniently manage and a little veil enveloping her in a beautiful, mysterious fashion. The practical girl of today of moderate means selects a wedding dress that may be worn after the ceremony, and for this purpose a fine silk voile, silky crape or lansdowne is a far better investment than a silk at the same price. The cost will be less because the fabrics are wider than the silk. It will wear better and can be used on more occasions.

A wedding gown on princess lines, with a yoke of shirred tulle, the long sleeves and the top of the waist and all in one panel being embroidered in white silk picked out with pearls, is very attractive. A girl could easily make the embroidery design herself, and if done in rather heavy silk floss the pattern is quickly covered. Embroidery for applying can be bought if the hand work is too expensive. There should be a short train, and the head must be covered with a tulle veil caught with orange blossoms.

Many autumn brides prefer being married in handsome traveling suits of broadcloth elaborately trimmed. Such a costume may be worn for traveling since the time has gone by when the mildest and swiftest frocks in one's wardrobe is used for train wear. The skirt of such a suit should be one of the new fluted models, and the coat must be long. Party frocks are a safe choice. The brooch collar is newer than the notched when broadcloth is the material employed, and the trimming may be as elaborate as one likes in the way of beading and stunning big buttons. A large toque of velvet would be a most millinery selection in a color harmonizing with the suit or contrasting with them if preferred. The trimmings may be of wings, all-pige, ostrich plumes or a huge bird. White gloves are de rigueur with colored frocks, so match your hand coverings to the costume as nearly as possible. Proper leather shoes with uppers made of a piece of the broadcloth would be very smart.

The National Red Cross has met with such success in the last two years in teaching first aid to the injured to the employees of large corporations that it has determined to undertake the work on a much larger scale. It will begin with the United States Steel corporation and will instruct more than 20,000 employees of that concern.

Miss Jane Wright of Cincinnati has been elected to take charge of the art library at Princeton university. She was librarian at the Cincinnati Art museum and resigned to go to Princeton. The trustees of Princeton are said to have allowed the place to remain vacant for over a year because they were anxious to get a person who measured up in every particular to the standard which they had fixed.

The Jewish women in Russia have presented their first petition to the duma. In this petition they beg that legislation be enacted to prevent husbands from sending their wives bills of divorce by messenger. As things are now a Hebrew husband can divorce his wife with the consent of the rabbi, by giving her a bill of divorce—ment. If the wife does not wish to be divorced she can refuse to take the bill, and it does not become valid without her acceptance. When the bill is sent by a messenger the wife, not knowing what the paper is, has no means of protecting herself.

Mrs. Jules Siegfried of Paris is at the head of the Country Holiday association, whose aim is to secure holidays for the working girls of the French capital. The principal beneficiaries of this association have been girls employed in various branches of the dressmaking trades and in the manufacture of artificial flowers. The wages for their work are so small that the girls, instead of being able to seek rest and recuperation when laid off in summer, have often to do without one meal a day in order to keep a roof over their heads. The wealthy women of Paris who are interested in the Country Holiday association have not yet been able to purchase or rent a house in which to entertain the girls whom they send into the country. Instead they depend on getting places lent for the purpose.

The demand for such training is reported to have more than tripled during the last two years, as more and more cities and school boards are realizing the necessity of providing working girls and boys and men of children with healthful meals.

DEATH OF SAILOR

To be Investigated by District Attorney Hill

BOSTON, Oct. 9.—At the request of Atty. Edgar O. Ashorn and B. G. A. Rosentwist, Swedish consul at Boston, Dist. Atty. Arthur D. Hill has begun an investigation into the causes and incidents leading up to the death of Gustav F. Bergstadt, a Swedish sailor and subject to the king of Sweden. Bergstadt was 23 years old. He sailed into Boston on the ship Henry W. Cramp on June 2 and on that evening, according to the police version of the story, visited several saloons with three companions, who finally became involved with a fifth man. The police claim to have three witnesses who declare that Bergstadt and his companions were robbing the fifth man when a saloonkeeper took the latter into his place for protection. A patrolman of the Hanover street police station came along and attempted to arrest Bergstadt. A desperate fight followed. The patrolman says he was forced to use his short club upon Bergstadt's head to subdue him. Bergstadt was taken to the relief hospital, where it was found that his skull was fractured. On June 5 he was removed to the city hospital, where he died on July 2. Associate Medical Examiner Timothy Leary, who performed the autopsy, pronounced death due to meningitis. He said Bergstadt had what is termed a "paper skull," and that a blow of the policeman's fist would have fractured it. Regarding the case, Dist. Atty. Hill gave out the following statement yesterday: "In this case an inquest was ordered Sept. 2. Judge Murray of the municipal court, to whom the matter was assigned, has already given a hearing. Certain circumstances in connection with the case which have been brought to my attention have led me to feel that it ought to be further investigated. I have accordingly asked Judge Murray to give further hearing in the matter, which he has agreed to do. At this hearing the district attorney's office will be represented by my assistant, Mr. A. H. Weed. Mr. Weed will examine the witnesses and present all the evidence which it is possible to obtain to the court. "As it appears that the deceased was a Swedish subject, I have instructed Mr. Weed to confer in regard to the case with the Swedish consul, and with his attorney, Mr. Edgar O. Ashorn, and Judge Murray at my request has said that he will allow the consul and his attorney to be present at the inquest. "Until the matter has been investigated I am not in a position to form or express my opinion as to what has taken place, but the public may be assured that the matter will be thoroughly investigated and the truth ascertained as far as it is possible to do so."

GIRL IS ACCUSED PRESIDENT TAFT

She is Held as a Burglar Stood at Base of the "Grizzly Giant"

LYNN, Oct. 9.—Lynn police officers last night secured the arrest of Miss Annie Mary Stone, 14 years old, whom they charge with breaks on a wholesale scale, the larceny of valuable jewelry, part of which they claim to have found in her possession. The girl, always regarded as modest and upright, is asserted to have walked into private residences and hotels and carried away diamonds, rings and watches valued at over $1000. Inspectors caught her in a pawnshop where she had come to dispose of her ill gotten wealth. She broke down after being taken into custody and is said to have made a complete confession. "The girl is the daughter of Edward Stone, an engineer of the General Electric works, who resides at 2 Heffernan avenue. For the last two months or more the police say that her operations have gone on unobserved. Complaints from almost every section of the city came in on every hand."

State Police Arrested James Kelley But Husband Got His Wife Back

FITCHBURG, Oct. 9.—The state police arrested last night James Kelley, 41 years old, on the charge of having murdered Everett Blanchard in Blackstone on Sunday night. Kelley had come from Pawtucket, R. I., to his sister's home here when apprehended. Blanchard was killed in a shooting affray on Sunday night in a Blackstone cafe. The man who shot him ran away. The police say this man went to Pawtucket, and they traced Kelley here from the latter place.

The city is crowded with visitors and buildings are gaily decorated in honor of the event. Lowell people went down to view the parade.

Boston C. T. A. Celebration
While the C. T. A. U. of the archdiocese has not planned a parade for Fr. Matthew day, the day promises to be observed in an interesting manner. The regular semi-annual convention of the union comes tomorrow, and hence the celebration will be carried out in the evening, when a reception will be tendered by Rev. P. J. O'Callaghan, D. D., C. S. P., of Chicago, national president, in Boston College hall. Rev. Dr. O'Callaghan is an eloquent speaker and is superior of the Paulist community in Chicago. He was graduated from Harvard college prior to taking up his theological course and is widely known as a powerful orator and an earnest exponent of the local abstinence cause. Delegations from the Matthews of Lowell and the St. John's societies of North Chelmsford will attend the convention and will remain over for the reception in the evening.

DEATH SENTENCE

Pronounced on Two Men in New York

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—Frederick Schlemm and Carlo Giro were sentenced yesterday to execution at Sing Sing during the week beginning Nov. 15 for the murder of Mrs. Sophia Stuber.

When Schlemm was asked if he had anything to say he replied: "No; I want to die." Giro, however, insisted on his innocence. "I am a burglar by trade," he declared, "but not a murderer."

Mrs. Stuber was shot during a pistol duel between her son and the two burglars when the latter tried to rob her house at Flatbush.

TAMMANY HALL

Issue in the New York Campaign

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—William R. Hearst's entry into the contest for mayor of greater New York attracted widespread attention today and marked the opening of what is expected to be a stirring hard fought campaign. The main issue as defined by Mr. Hearst is whether the control of the city government by Tammany hall is to be maintained or overthrown.

Anti-Tammany men say that if even Judge William Gaynor, the democratic nominee, is elected they will accomplish the real practical defeat of Tammany if they put in office the nominees on either the republican or the city alliance lists below the head of the ticket. A Tammany man, they say, would be nearly powerless with control of the various boards operating the city government. At the same time they point to Judge Gaynor's recent refusal to accept responsibility for the minor candidates on the ticket with him as evidence that if elected he will refuse to stand as a Tammany man. For these reasons, it is believed, attention is being concentrated on the minor nominees. There is little doubt that Mr. Hearst's list will include nearly all if not all the candidates for the city office below that of mayor, already nominated by the republican party.

BILLY EVANS DEAD.
LEWISTON, N. Y., Oct. 8.—W. W. Evans, known throughout the country as Billy Evans, the greatest developer of young trotters and paces, died at his home here last night after an illness of many months. He was 49 years of age.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—Jockey Eddie Dugan will have no trouble in carrying off the leading riding honors on the eastern race tracks this year. He has been on the job steadily, barring a suspension now and then, since Pinelock meeting in Baltimore opened in April, and in spite of the talk about rough riding he has a larger following among horse players here than any other jockey. Dugan has been repeatedly scored by prominent owners for his alleged foul tactics in the saddle, but nobody has ever accused him of dishonesty, for the little fellow is always trying his best apparently and is seldom criticised for poor work. Dugan has worn the silks of practically all the leading owners, including August Belmont, James R. Keene, S. C. Hildreth and John E. Madden. Incidentally he has ridden the best horses in training. Nevertheless there appears to be some doubt whether Dugan is a better jockey than Vincent Powers, Butwell or Taplin. It is believed that if Powers and Taplin had started riding at Pinelock when Dugan began his campaign each of them would have more winners to his credit than the present holder of honors. But as they did not, Dugan stands alone as winning second and third mounts as well.

A HEBREW POET

Wrote a Poem to Get a Grave

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—Naphthali Herz Imber, a Hebrew poet and Zionist leader, who died here yesterday after a sudden attack of paralysis, will probably be buried in a grave which he bought many years ago, in exchange for a 14-line poem in classic Hebrew. Legal documents found yesterday among Imber's papers described this unusual barter of poetry for a burial plot.

"As I have neither wife nor children to bury me," says a memorandum in the poet's handwriting, "I have entered into this contract, whereby my friend, Esther Marcus, in consideration of a poem written by me and herewith conveyed to him, shall take charge of my body when I die, and bury me in a plot which he has furnished."

When Marcus came yesterday to fulfill his contract he found a committee of Galicians, who declared that inasmuch as Imber was born in Galicia theirs should be the honor of burying him and furnishing his grave. Marcus refused to relinquish his claim, however, and declared that he would appeal at once to the courts to sustain his rights under his contract. A legal contest may ensue before the poet is laid to rest.

Imber's death will be observed by a long period of mourning by many of New York's prominent East Siders. He was best known among the Jews as the author of "Hatikvah," the Zionist national hymn, which is chanted by Zionists throughout the world. He wrote many other poems well known to his people, including a Hebrew translation of Omar Khayyam.

DISPUTED!

And still the business of discovering things continues, and Diogenes, were he with us, would be poking around with his lantern hunting for that honest man. There is one thing Diogenes would be pleased with were he sojourning in this community, and that is OUR COKE, and that's HONEST—but he wouldn't be the discoverer of this fact. He would find hundreds in Lowell who discovered OUR COKE to be an HONEST FUEL, a CLEAN FUEL, an ECONOMICAL FUEL, years ago. Why, just stop and think a moment—your grandfather and grandmother, if they lived here, were burning OUR COKE years ago. They may not be burning it now—but surely would be if with us today. If you have not used OUR COKE, try it. You will not be "the one who first discovered," but you will nevertheless discover that you have been losing money all your life from the fact that you have not burned OUR COKE for fuel. It costs delivered $4.75 PER CHALDRON.

A GREAT SUCCESS

A Large Crowd at St. John's Society Bazaar

The second night of the St. John's T. A. society bazaar was held in the North Chelmsford town hall and was a decided success, both from a social and financial standpoint. The hall was packed to the doors. At 8 o'clock a concert program was given by the Colonial orchestra, and at 9 o'clock general dancing was started and continued until 12. The tables did a good business and articles were drawn. A beautiful Battenberg centre piece on the parish table was won by Mrs. Quigley, Chelmsford street, Lowell. On the foresters' table, Etta Cox was awarded a large work basket. Fruit dish was won by Mary Valentine; pair of boxing gloves, Michael Scollan; box of candy, Loretta McManey. On the Auxiliary table, a jardiniere and fern went to Mrs. Fred Gaultette; linen tablecloth, Mrs. John McQuade; chocolate set to Selectman David F. Small, and a fancy pin cushion to Jennie Hinglin. On the St. John's table a hand painted fruit dish was awarded to James Savage of West Chelmsford.

The bazaar will continue this evening, and there will be a performance with the M. C. L. of Lowell as entertainers. The company will be assisted by the North Chelmsford quartet. The baby show this afternoon is creating great excitement and line prizes are to be awarded. After the show, a bean supper will be served from 5 to 7, after which the entertainment and dancing will be enjoyed for the evening.

Those in charge of the successful event were as follows: General manager, John J. McQuade; assistant, Michael Scollan; secretary, Joseph Laforge; treasurer, James P. Quigley. Entertainment committee, James Riley, chairman; Mrs. Ella McTeague, Miss Mary Cox, Miss Belle Valentine and Reginald McAdoo.

General soliciting and printing committee, John J. McQuade, Michael Scollan and Joseph Laforge. Music committee, Miss Mary Cox, Miss Mary Valentine, Reginald McAdoo and John Kerins.

MINISTER CRANE MR. IRA H. MORSE EUGENE N. FOSS

Says He Does Not Know Reason Returns to Lowell After Auto Trip of 11,800 Miles

Mr. Crane Returns to Lowell After Auto Trip of 11,800 Miles

Says He is a Democrat to Stay

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—The Tribune today prints an interview with Charles R. Crane, the new minister to China, which reads as follows:

"I am in the dark concerning the nature of this recall. I got a brief message from Mr. Knox directing me to report at Washington once more before sailing for China. I do not think the summons is for the purpose of giving the state department opportunity to criticize recent public utterances of mine. It is more probable that things have come up which necessitate consultation and conference. It is generally understood that the situation in the Far East is at a delicate juncture.

"The papers have pointed out that

Mr. and Mrs. Ira H. Morse and Omer Deschamps of this city arrived in Lowell yesterday afternoon and brought to an end an 11,800 mile automobile trip, the trio having crossed and recrossed the country.

All three are delighted to be back in the Spindle city again and though they had a very good time it is doubtful if any of the three would care about repeating the trip.

The party left Lowell on May 19th of this year crossing through Massachusetts into New York state and then along the regular Chicago route. A stop was made in Chicago in order that the automobile could be fitted out for bad roads and the hard work ahead.

Nine hundred extra pounds of baggage were carried. The machine was equipped with extra water and gasoline tanks, tools, two axes, a saw, a shovel, strap ladders and long canvas strips for deep sand.

The route from Chicago was through Cedar Rapids and Council Bluffs, on through the northern part of Nebraska, to Cheyenne, Wyoming. Rain and cloudbursts made the roads through Nebraska and Iowa almost impassable.

Mr. Morse tells some very interesting stories of the experiences that the party went through, such as being bothered by wolves, the breaking of an axle, and other exciting experiences.

After reaching the coast and taking in the Seattle exposition the return trip was made through the states of Washington, Oregon and Idaho into Wyoming and then back over the same route to the westward.

Mr. Morse said last night that he had greatly enjoyed the trip, but would not care to tackle it again.

ED. CUNNINGHAM COLUMBUS DAY

Popular Conductor Gets Special Services at St. Peter's Church

The many friends of Mr. Edward J. Cunningham, the popular conductor, formerly on the Pawtucketville-Christians Hill line, will be pleased to learn that he leaves today for Washington, D. C., where he enters the employ of the United States as a stenographer in the Bureau of Immigration, having recently passed with a high rank the difficult federal service examination for stenographers. To obtain such a position is that to which Mr. Cunningham goes one must be expert in shorthand and typewriting, and the fact that a young man steps from a street car into such a berth is the best evidence in the world that he is possessed of intelligence, ambition and perseverance. The means employed by Mr. Cunningham to advance himself are worthy of emulation by other young men who need only ambition and perseverance.

Mr. Cunningham ran on the evening shift, that is, he went to work about noon and finished his day's labor after midnight. He resides at 117 Rogers street, in the Highlands. Every night he walked from Merrimack square to his home after his work and spent an hour in study. Then was back in Lowell at 8 o'clock a. m. to attend Commercial college. He was graduated from Commercial college with high honors and then took the federal examination with the result as stated above.

Mr. Cunningham is a popular member of Lowell council, Knights of Columbus.

HANGED HIMSELF

Man Was Charged With Intoxication

PLYMOUTH, Oct. 9.—Charles A. Matthews of Carver who was brought to the Plymouth police station yesterday charged with intoxication, hanged himself in his cell during the night. Matthews made a noise in a handkerchief and tied it to the bars of his cell door. He was cut down by the guards, but was beyond the power of medical assistance.

INJURIES FATAL

Springfield Man Fell Into Shaft

SPRINGFIELD, Oct. 9.—Gerald Pessalano, aged 40, fell down the elevator well of the Commercial block last evening and was fatally injured. How he fell into the well is not known, but his body was found at the bottom and he was hurried to the River hospital, where he died upon his arrival. He was an employee of the establishment. He lived at 42 William street and leaves a wife and four children.

FATAL BURNS

Mary Harrington Died the Hospital

Mary Harrington, aged 33, died yesterday afternoon as the result of burns sustained at her home, corner of Broadway and Dutton street, Tuesday night. Just how her clothing became ignited is not known, but it is believed a lamp exploded in the woman's room, catching her clothing. She was terribly burned and was taken in the ambulance to St. John's hospital. She is survived by three sisters, Bridget, Kate and Elizabeth Harrington. The body was taken to the rooms of Undertaker Rogers in Gorham street, where it was viewed by Medical Examiner Meigs, who signed the death certificate, "death due to burning."

When the woman was taken to the hospital on Thursday her ambulance driver who took her there.

PRISON SENTENCE

Noted Horse Thief Given Three Years

RUTLAND, Vt., Oct. 9.—Jeremiah Downey of Mendon, one of the most noted horse thieves in the state, pleaded guilty in the Rutland county court yesterday to a charge of horse stealing, and was sentenced to serve not less than three nor more than four years at hard labor in the state prison at Windsor.

The crime for which he was sentenced was committed at Pawlet, Wednesday, when he stole a horse belonging to Robert Black. It was taken from under a shed and Downey was arrested before he had driven three miles.

The case of John Reed of Orwell, in which he is charged with poisoning three cows belonging to his father-in-law, Rufus Lamphere of Benson, was given to the jury yesterday afternoon.

FIFTY INJURED

In a Collision of Trolley Cars

BALLSTON, N. Y., Oct. 9.—Fifty workmen bound from Ballston to Schenectady were injured, many badly, in a collision of trolley cars on the Schenectady railroad here. The collision was due to a fog and took place at the outlet station south of Ballston. The fifty workmen were all in one car and not one escaped injury. The motor-man was fatally crushed. The injured men were removed to hospitals in Schenectady and Saratoga.

London seems to be the center from which novel and dainty styles in automobile upholstery emanate. English lawns of carriage of stylish builds designed in enamelled wood and in leather trimmings are the vehicles in which the latest American infants take their summer. In dark green and in a pretty enamelled white these carriages are at their best from an artistic viewpoint. The carriage seen in the illustration is one of the newest and most comfortable models. The striking feature of this improvement is the sunshade, which, instead of being of leather, is a canopy hung with a dainty awning, clipped over the sides and all round to a circle of chrome. A cover cord with the carriage exactly matches the awning, and to figure warm there is an extra blanket of wool. United States models standing by compare as most unattractively dressed to the English creature. Altogether, which turnout is very stunning new.
